

KARIN ROSS DESIGNS

KITCHEN & BATH REMODELER

Karin Ross understands how to interpret what her clients want and listens with her entire creative mind.

To supplement her European background, she makes sure to participate in continuing education about projects and markets and works to assist clients in their desire to surround themselves with beautiful things. She is purely custom when envisioning each client's home.

"I discuss how we can work with their personal style so it can be enjoyed over and over," she smiled. "Each kitchen and bath I create is entirely custom, which is the beauty in my work. There is no mass production here. At least two elements need to be different for me to feel good about myself."

Another thing clients need to understand is that delays are not subject to discounts by manufacturers now and delivery times are estimates.

"We are reasonable in our approach to each project when it comes to these factors we cannot necessarily control," expressed Ross. "However, because we create truly custom spaces and pay close attention to every single detail, we believe the end result is worth the wait. We just respectfully request that during this journey of delivering a custom project to you, you simply bear with us as we deal with these hurdles."

She enjoys coming in and updating existing spaces with splashes of color, light and luxurious embellishments. In addition, she works with new builds in a variety of manners. She can do consultation on design only or she can take on complete control and make sure the builder is following the vision of the homeowners she is working with.

"I have the knowledge and can help them through the process," she explained. "The builder does the framing, roofing, foundation and electrical and then we take over!"

Now more than ever, many of us are spending more time in our homes. She understands that people realized the importance of having a functional, comfortable and intentionally designed home.

Her style has distinct European flair, and she sources rare products, from lighting features, rugs, vases, tiles, sinks, tubs, wallpaper and more from Italy and other countries.

As such, they have turned to highly respected interior designers such as Karin Ross. As owner of Karin Ross Designs, a design+build firm with a showroom in Lee's Summit, Missouri, Ross specializes in bespoke crafted kitchens and bathrooms. She is also a solid testament to what it means to employ resilience, patience, understanding, competence and quality at a time when some things are somewhat out of her control.

She and her team are essentially creating masterpieces. This award-winning designer known for her attention to detail and crafting your own unique story through the creative expression of your inspirations, pairs with you to share impeccable designs. She understands each individual's lifestyle and needs, delivering results that are not only breathtaking as a result of her reputation for setting the standards for contemporary luxury. ■
